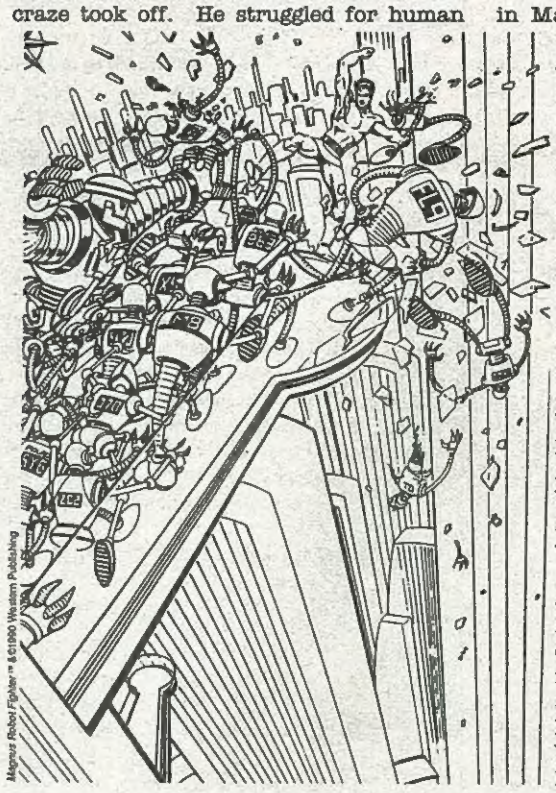
Magnus Begins His Valiant Adventure In March

He was a dystopian future hero in an era when everyone else looked ahead with unrelenting optimism. He was a martial arts hero before the martial arts craze took off. He struggled for human rights when everyone though the machine was the answer to all our problems.

He was Magnus, Robot Fighter. And in March, his adventures begin anew courtesy of Valiant Comics, writer Jim Shooter (marking his return to comics after leaving the editorship of Marvel Comics several years ago), and artists Art Nichols and Bob Layton; Janet Jackson will supply the full-process colors for each issue.



Magnus, the creation of Russ Manning, was the star of one of Gold Key Comics' most successful superhero series in the 1960's; even though he has been absent from the comics scene for two decades, he is still fondly remembered by fans of the earlier series. But when he appears in the all-new Magnus Robot Fighter series from Valiant, he's likely to become an instant favorite of today's fans as well.

Magnus Robot Fighter #1 begins an four-issue storyline that will help introduce readers to the world of Magnus. "Steel Nation," the first storyline, presents a world beset with problems. The brain of Magnus' robot adversary T- 1 has been stolen; 1-A, Magnus' mentor, has been damaged; and North Am is plagued with out-of-control robots terrorizing its citizenry. Who's behind it all? That's what Magnus is determined to find out in the first four issues of this unlimited series.

Not only is Magnus a favorite of many fans, but the hero is a favorite of many comics creators as well. That's why so many of them were eager to contribute to the series; as a result, artwork by some of the best known names in comics will be featured on a series of Magnus trading cards included in each issue of the comic book. Terry Austin, Bret Blevins, Paris Cullins, Joe Kubert, Alan Weiss, Barry Windsor-Smith, and others will contribute cards to the series.

Fans who want a complete set of the trading cards will want to add Magnus Robot Fighter to their must-have list--for the only way they can get the rare Barry Windsor-Smith card is to mail in coupons from the first eight issues of Magnus Robot Fighter. In return, Valiant Comics will send fans a copy of Magnus #0, a prequel to the new series, and a copy of the limited edition card.

Valiant also has plans to reissue the Russ Manning issues of Magnus in deluxe reprint volumes; they'll also expand their line with new adventures of Solar, Man of the Atom and Turok, Son of Stone later this year.

Turtles Venture Into Viking Past Once Again

The Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles make their second appearance in the pages of Michael Thibodeaux's Last of the Viking Heroes this April, when they guest-star in The Last of the Viking Heroes Summer special #3, a $2.50 comic book. In this story, Michaelangelo, Donatello, Raphael, and Leonardo travel into the past to help the Viking Heroes overthrow an evil scientist. At the same time Last of the Viking Heroes Summer Special #3 is released, the publisher is also re-releasing the first Summer Special (featuring a Frank Frazetta cover). It, too, is priced at $2.50.

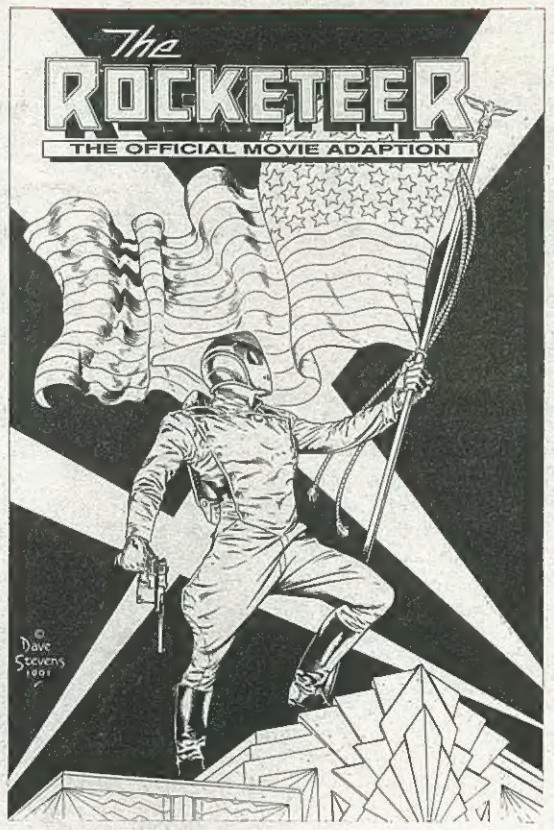
All Systems Go For the Rocketeer!

In 1989, Batman was the film event of the summer. In 1990, it was Dick Tracy. In 1991, the hot summer movie is The Rocketeer, based on the almost-a-decade-old Dave Stevens comic book hero.

The Rocketeer, a heroic adventure set in Hollywood in 1938, is a period piece--but not in the same way that Dick Tracy was a period piece. While Dick Tracy tried to capture the feel of a 1930's comic strip, The Rocketeer is a contemporary look at a bygone era; it tries to capture the look and feel of the 1930's as seen through both history and film.

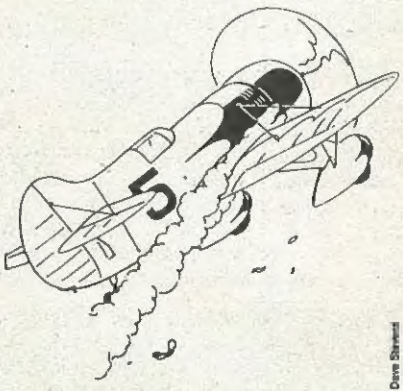


The Rocketeer is Cliff Secord, a pilot whose rocketpack becomes the focus of a grand adventure in the 1930's serial style. Created by Dave Stevens, the Rocketeer first appeared in Starslayer #2 from the now-defunct Pacific Comics. From there, he went on to star in Pacific Presents and his own one-shot(those early appearances are available in a graphic novel currently in print from Eclipse) before finding a new home in the Rocketeer Adventure Magazine from Comico (thus far, two sporadic issues have been published; there are rumors that another publisher is slated to pick up the Rocketeer Adventure Magazine, but no formal announcement has been made). Each story is steeped in the popular culture of the 1930's; not only do famous figures from the era appear, but so do art-deco settings, flashy cars, stylish architecture, and a plethora of little touches that make Stevens' Rocketeer one of the most thoroughly entertaining period pieces done in the history of comics. Even other 1930's heroes have made appearances in The Rocketeer; thinly disguised versions of Doc Savage and the Shadow have both appeared--to the delight of their fans--in the pages of the comic book series; the fact that both fit in perfectly reveals just how thoroughly Stevens has captured the feel of the 1930's.

Now, the Rocketeer is set to come to film this summer, starring Bill Campbell as Cliff Secord and Jennifer Connelly as Betty--although in the film, her name will be changed to Jenny (interestingly enough, it was Dave Stevens' rendition of Betty, based on Betty Page, that is largely credited with the resurgence of interest in Betty Page in the 80's and early 90's). Alan Arkin will play Peevy, Cliff's mechanic, while Timothy Dalton has been brought in to play a newly created role, the Errol-Flynn-ish film star Neville Sinclair. Even Stevens himself, who has nothing but praise for the look and feel of the cinema interpretation of The Rocketeer, has a cameo role in the film. The Rocketeer is directed by Joe (Honey, I Shrunk the Kids) Johnston and scripted by Danny Bilson and Paul De Meo (already very well known to comic fans for their production of The Flash on CBS television).

But film excitement notwithstanding, The Rocketeer is first and foremost a comic book character--and Disney is returning the Rocketeer to his roots in early June with their release of a Rocketeer Comic Adaptation of the film. The adaptation is written by Peter David, fan-favorite author of The Incredible Hulk and until recently author of DC's Star Trek--and soon to be the author of X-Factor. Russ Heath, a virtual legend in the comic book industry, will supply the artwork for the adaptation, while Dave Stevens will prepare a painted cover for the volume. Disney's adaptation, slated for release just prior to the film, is priced at $5.95 for a 64-page prestige-format comic; a $2.95 newsstand edition will follow later.

Disney is also offering a 3-D Rocketeer Comic Book accompanied by an audiocassette featuring the recorded dialogue for the story. This 48-page 3-D comic is prepared for 3-D by Ray Zone and comes complete with a set of 3-D Rocketeer glasses; the cassette is "recorded in 3-D sound that transports the dialogue and the action-packed scenes to a new sensory dimension," according to Disney. Ron Kidd is writing the Rocketeer 3-D Comic, while Neal Adams' Continuity Studio (who did the storyboards for the film) is handling the artwork. The price of the 48-page 3-D book is $7.98.



While The Rocketeer's home may be in the comics, he'll also be appearing in a lot of other venues, including shirts, belts, suspenders, caps, PVC figures, cards, stickers, models, games, and more this summer. To help give comics fans a head-start on the Rocketeer phenomenon, Eclipse is reprinting its Rocketeer Graphic Album this month; for only $7.95, fans can see how the whole thing began.

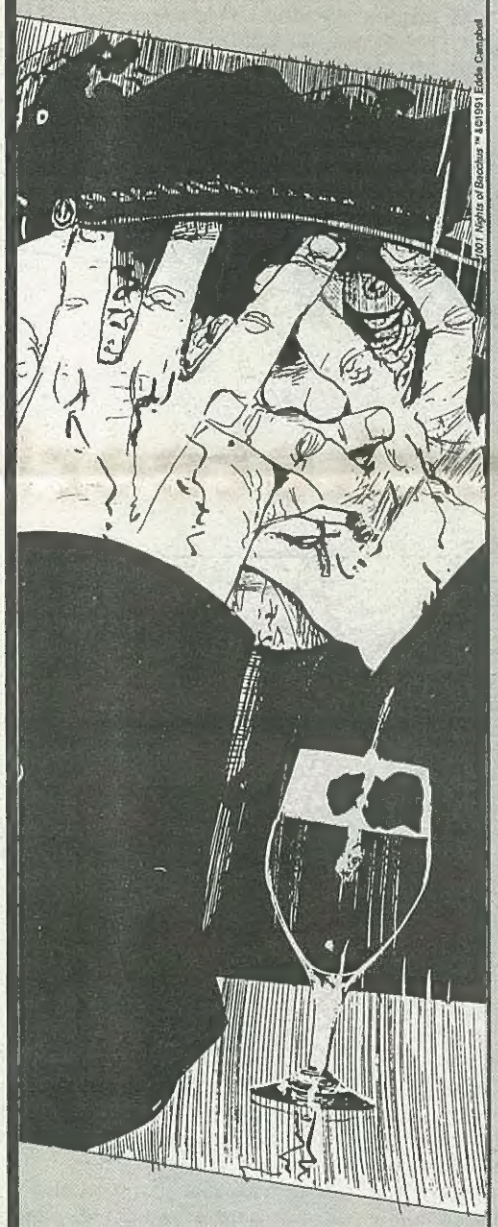
JOIN THE BACCHANALIA

A couple of years ago, Eddie Campbell was an artist appreciated only by those on the cutting edge of comics; now, thanks to successful collections from Tundra, Dark Horse and other publishers, a large number of fans are discovering the work of this quirky, stylish artist. So what time could be better for Trident Press to gather together all the Bacchus stories that Campbell has done for Trident Comics? 1001 Nights of Bacchus not only reprints five Bacchus stories from Trident, but it also contains several new pages and a brand new cover.

Bacchus is usually a storyteller--but in this collection, he becomes a not-so-avid audience. You see, the local pub owner has agreed to keep his pub open as long as Bacchus stays awake--and the eager patrons are determined to keep him alert by telling him one story after another. Chances are you'll enjoy the tales much more than Bacchus will... 1001 Nights of Bacchus, a 52-page squarebound black and white comic, is priced at $4.95; look for it in March.



WOODCHUCKS BRANCH OFF INTO MINISERIES

The Junior Woodchucks, a longtime staple of Disney's Donald Duck comics, will finally star in their own comic book beginning in mid-April. Junior Woodchucks is a four-issue limited series featuring a mixture of classic Carl Barks reprints and new stories starring the Woodchucks, the Beagle Boys, Donald, and other well-known Duck characters. Each issue of the monthly miniseries is priced at $1.50.

MAN WITHOUT FEAR MEETS MAN WHO INSPIRES FEAR

The Ghost Rider has met quite a few members of the Marvel superhero elite in recent months; in May, he adds another hero to his list of acquaintances when he guest-stars in Daredevil #294. The crossover centers around The Hand, who is setting up operations in New York for some Hong Kong businesses moving to the US. Ghost Rider joins with Daredevil to try to destroy the Hand; gradually, the two learn more about the background of The Hand, including Baron Strucker's role in its founding. At the same time, the Kingpin takes advantage of the conflict to expand his media empire. According to Marvel's Direct Sales Assistant Manager, Skip Dietz, "Long-time Daredevil fans will also be glad to see Karen Page re-established as a major supporting character."

The Ghost Rider two-parter will continue in June in Daredevil #295; Daredevil #294 is scheduled for May 9th release. Daredevil is written by Dan Chichester and illustrated by Lee Weeks and Al Williamson.

DRACULA FINDS A HOME

Apple Comics' various Dracula series have offered a variety of interpretations of the Lord of the Undead. Their new series, Dracula in Hell, is a bit different, however: Apple describes it as "an exploration of the origin of Dracula that is so violent that we have to strictly limit its sales to adults."

The six-issue Dracula in Hell miniseries reveals the story of Vlad the Impaler's transformation into Count Dracula. It's based on Transylvanian folklore as recorded more than a century ago, and it reveals just how a malevolent mortal became the Lord of the Undead. Rickey Shanklin is the writer for Dracula in Hell, while Neil Vokes and Pat Broderick supply the art. Tim Vigil has done the cover for the first issue.

SPIDEY'S SAGA GETS A LATE START

Spider-Man Saga #1, originally announced for January release, has run into some problems; just pulling together all that Spider-Man history takes some time, according to Marvel, so the book has been pushed back to early May. Spider-Man Saga, done in the same manner as Marvel Saga and Wolverine Saga, will offer a comprehensive chronological look at Spider-Man's history; each issue will be priced at $2.95. Spider-Man Saga #1 is now scheduled for May 9th release.

CYBERPIRATES COME ON BOARD ETERNITY'S ROBOTECH LINE

Someone's tampering with the mecha of Monument City--and as a result, people are dying! When Mecha pilot Terry Weston's fiancee becomes one of the "accident" fatalities, he investigates and discovers that something ominous is behind the scheme--and that in investigating the accidents, he has made himself a target! The action takes place in Robotech II: The Sentinels - Cyberpirates, a four-issue limited series that begins in March. Bill Spangler is the writer for the series; he is joined by artists Thomas Tenney and Fred Perry. The original miniseries will introduce new characters and new mecha and will, according to Eternity feature surprise guest stars. Each issue of the miniseries is priced at $2.25.

DC PUTS A CAP ON FLASH-MANIA

With CBS strongly promoting its television series The Flash and sales climbing for the DC comic book, there are a lot of new Flash fans looking for anything related to the Scarlet Speedster. DC will help satisfy their hunger for Flash items with the release of a Flash cap, a red supplex nylon cap with the Flash comics logo embroidered on the front in yellow, white, black, and metallic gold. These quality caps are priced at $11.95 and are limited to only 3500 caps total; once they're gone, that's it! You might want to reserve on of these caps with the friendly folks at your local comics shop--and tell 'em that you heard about it in CSN, okay?

BRUBAKER TAKES A LOOK AT THE LOWLIFE

Ed Brubaker hangs out in some pretty unsavory places, it seems. His first comics series was Purgatory USA--sounds like a great place to visit, huh? Now, in his second series, he takes readers into the world of Lowlife. Lowlife is a title that should appeal to fans who like titles such as Love and Rockets, Eightball, Yummy Fur, Grafik Muzik, and Baker STreet--just about any of the alternative greats," Brubaker said about his new Caliber Press book. Brubaker calls on a couple of those greats to help him with the first issue. One story, "You're a Good Man Chester Brown," brings in Chester Brown, the creator of Yummy Fur, to help Brubaker reveal what's wrong with the comics industry today. Another story, a satire of mutant comics, features art by acclaimed illustrator Erik Shanower, whose work has previously graced First Comics' Oz graphic novels. Lowlife #1, a March release, is priced at $2.95.

MARVEL REALLY GETS INTO THE SPIRIT...

As if one Ghost Rider isn't enough, Marvel is giving fans a chance to enjoy the exploits of two totally different Ghost Riders beginning on May 16th, when they kick off the new limited series The Original Ghost Rider Rides Again.

This seven-issue limited series by Roger Stern, Bob Budiansky, Joe Rubinstein, and Dave Simons, reprints Ghost Rider #68-81 from the first series, retelling the origin of the first host to the Spirit of Vengeance--and carrying the storyline through until his "retirement." Each issue is priced at $1.50--a real bargain, considering the rapid escalation of the price of those issues following the new hit Ghost Rider series' success...

THE BOGIE MAN RETURNS

The Bogie Man is back. So who's the Bogie Man? He's an escaped mental patient who is convinced that he's Humphrey Bogart--and he even looks the part. Of course, he's convinced that he's a shamus to end all shamuses--and he just may be right. In the upcoming Apocalypse prestige-format one-shot Bogie Man: The Manhattan Project, Bogie Man uncovers an international conspiracy that has targeted Dan Quayle for assassination--and it's up to Bogie Man to save the Vice-Prez. John Wagner, Alan Grant, and Robin Smith are the creators of this April release. The Manhattan Project is a 52-page full-color one-shot priced at $5.95.

Meanwhile, the same team's earlier Bogie Man adventures are being published as a four-issue limited series from Fat Man Press; after multiple delays at the printers', Fat Man Press is ready to release Bogie Man #3 and #4 in April--the same month the new full-color Apocalypse one-shot is set to appear.

In this limited series, The Bogie Man is on the trail of the Big Bird--but is it really what it seems to be? Fat Man Press' Bogie Man issues are published in black and white, but they feature work by the same creative team as The Manhattan Project. Each issue of the black-and-white comic is priced at $1.95.

Task Force Games knew that it was time to rework what they had done. The entire Star Fleet Battles gaming system had become so cluttered with outside influences that it was hard to tell what the rules were anymore. BATMAN™ by Loebs, Infantino & Nyberg

I'M RICH! I'M RICH BEYOND MY DREAMS!
ONLY ONE RIDDLE LEFT... WHERE DID IT COME FROM?
AND WHAT'S IN THIS BOX?!
BUT I'M RICH, SO WHO CARES? IT WON'T KILL ME!
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG

THE RIDDLER REVIEWS HIS TROOPS...
ALL RIGHT! YOU'VE BEEN HIRED TO BECOME MY QUESTIONING CONQUERORS!
I MEAN TO BAFFLE THIS BURG WITH MY RIDDLES, THEN LOOT IT DRY! SO...
HOW MANY OF YOU HAVE ACTUALLY COMMITTED A CRIME?
WE'RE ALL BROKERS! WE JUST WANTED IN ON YOUR INSURANCE PROGRAM.
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG

THE RIDDLER CONTINUES HIS BRIEFING...
AS A MASTER CRIMINAL, I'LL NEED SPEEDY TRANSPORT... THUS THE RIDDLEMOBILE!
AND THIS WILL BE OUR SECRET HEADQUARTERS ...!
FINALLY, YOUR UNIFORMS! MADE OF ALL-NATURAL FIBERS AND SILK SCREENED WITH MY PERSONAL LOGO!
DON'T GET PUSHY!
DO WE GET CAPS AND JACKETS, TOO?
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG

RIDDLE ME THIS...!
IF A ROOSTER LAYS AN EGG ON A ROOF, WHICH WAY WILL IT FALL?
THE RIGHT SIDE?
UM... THE SOUTH SIDE?
WAIT... THE OUTSIDE?
ROOSTERS DON'T LAY EGGS!
GEEZ! IT'S GOING TO TAKE FOREVER TO TRAIN YOU GUYS!
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG

AT LAST! OUR SECRET HEADQUARTERS ARE COMPLETED!
AND HERE IN MY OFFICE SUITE I SHALL RULE AS CRIME BOSS OF THE CENTURY!
GREAT, BOSS! WHAT'S THIS?
A SOUVENIR OF THE CRIME COUP THAT GAVE ME MY EMPIRE! IT'S MY GOOD LUCK PIECE!
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
NO, NO! THE CAR HAS GOT TO HAVE FRONT AND REAR MACHINE GUNS AND AN EJECTION SEAT! OTHERWISE THE DEAL'S OFF.
AMATEURS! UM... BOSS...?
YOU'VE GOT A RIDDLEMOBILE ...A GANG... SECRET HEADQUARTERS...
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
RIGHT... FILLED WITH SECRET ROOMS AND DEATH TRAPS! SO...?
SO SHOULDN'T WE ACTUALLY BE PLANNING CRIMES?
CRIMES! GREAT IDEA! IN FACT, I'LL PUT YOU IN CHARGE! PLAN A CRIME AND GET BACK TO ME BY NEXT TUESDAY!

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES™

Y'KNOW, THIS IS A PRETTY GOOD WAY TO BONE UP ON OUR WRESTLING SKILLS...!
STOP! STOP YOUR FIGHTING--
--BEFORE I BEGIN TO THINK YOU FOUR ARE MORE BONE-HEADED THAN ME!
MASTER SPLINTER!

MASTER SPLINTER!
AWESOME!
MY SONS... MY HEART TOO IS FILLED WITH JOY.
HOWEVER... WE DO HAVE A PROBLEM...
GRR!
YES, MASTER, BUT IT LOOKS LIKE OUR PROBLEM HAS A PROBLEM...!
2-26

YES. THIS IS OUR PROBLEM... ...BUT NOT IN THE SENSE YOU MEAN, MY SON.
WELL, THE DUDE AIN'T EXACTLY HERE TO PARTY, MASTER.
NO... NOR IS IT HERE TO FIGHT.
I THINK PERHAPS IT IS HERE SIMPLY BECAUSE IT... IS.
2-27

MASTER-- WHY DID YOU CALL US BONEHEADS? WE WERE ONLY FIGHTING IN ORDER TO SAVE THE LITTLE GATOR...
NO, LEONARDO-- YOU FOUGHT BECAUSE YOU NEGLECTED TO THINK OF ALTERNATIVES TO FIGHTING.
A TRUE NINJA NEVER FIGHTS UNLESS HE HAS NO OTHER CHOICE...
...JUST AS A TRUE NINJA ALWAYS KNOWS WHAT HE IS FIGHTING FOR.
2-28

SO YOU'RE SAYING THE DUDE ONLY WANTED TO TAKE THE GATOR HOME...?
YES.
HEY-- WHAT ABOUT US?
GOOD QUESTION.

ER AND THREE MILLION DOLLARS... A OMBINATION.
BUT EVEN MORE DEADLY IS THIS BOX... WHICH CONTAINS ENOUGH POISON TO KILL AN ENTIRE CITY.
I'LL START ON THE PARALLEL BEAMS... GO HAND OVER HAND UNTIL I'M UNDER THE RINGS...
I'LL BACKFLIP UP TO THE RINGS, SWING MYSELF INTO A DOUBLE TWIST, RELEASE OVER THE TRAMPOLINE, BOUNCE UP TO THE ROPE AND CLIMB TO THE TOP. WISH ME LUCK!
Y GOOD, SIR! TWO OUT OF REE?
SHUT UP, ALFRED.
